

From Phase I development to worldwide supply.

If you're looking for a development and manufacturing partner, Rechon Life Science might be just what you need.

We can produce your non-sterile, sterile and aseptic liquids – from small quantities for clinical trials up to full-scale commercial supply for worldwide markets. We can help you develop formulations through Phase I to III. And provide full clinical services.

Our customers range from large, well-known pharmaceutical companies to small innovation and licensing firms. In the Rechon plant in Malmö, Sweden, they've found the environment, technology and capacity needed for their projects.

Maybe you could, too?
